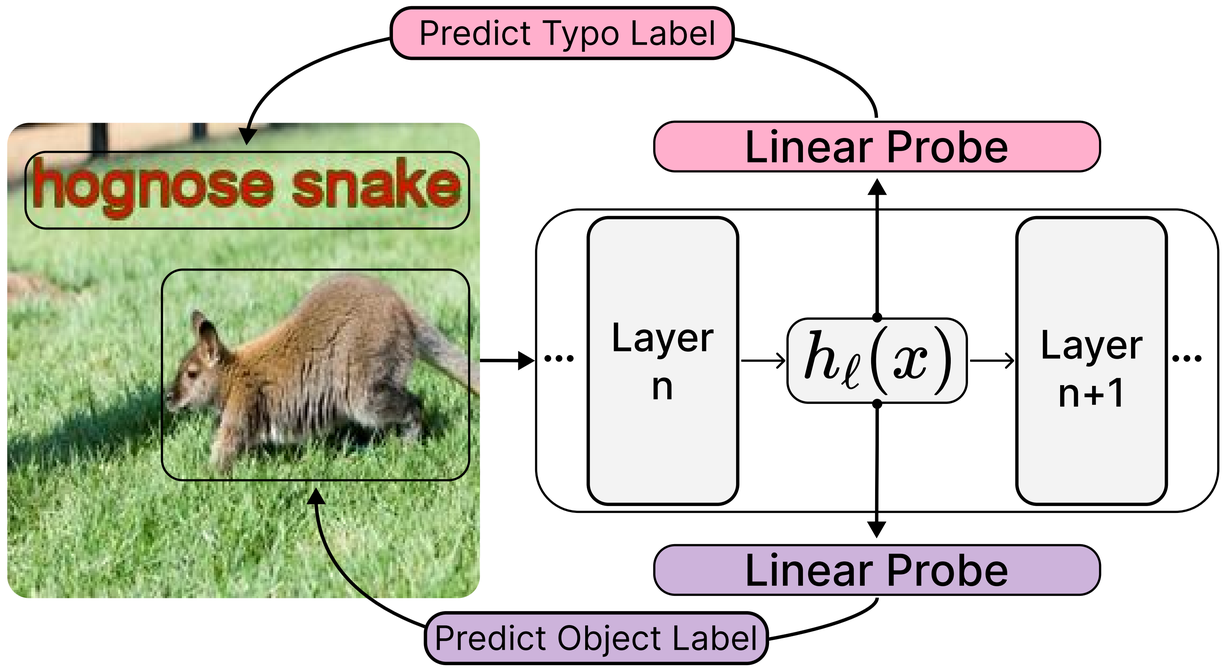
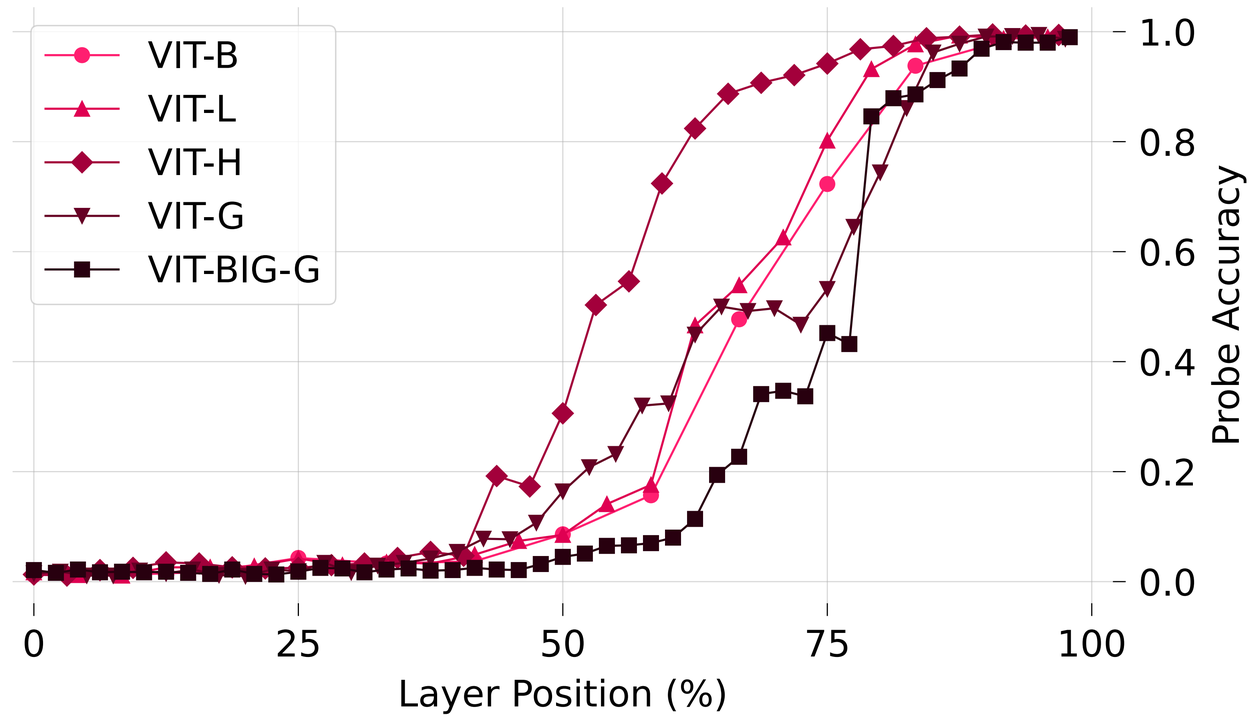
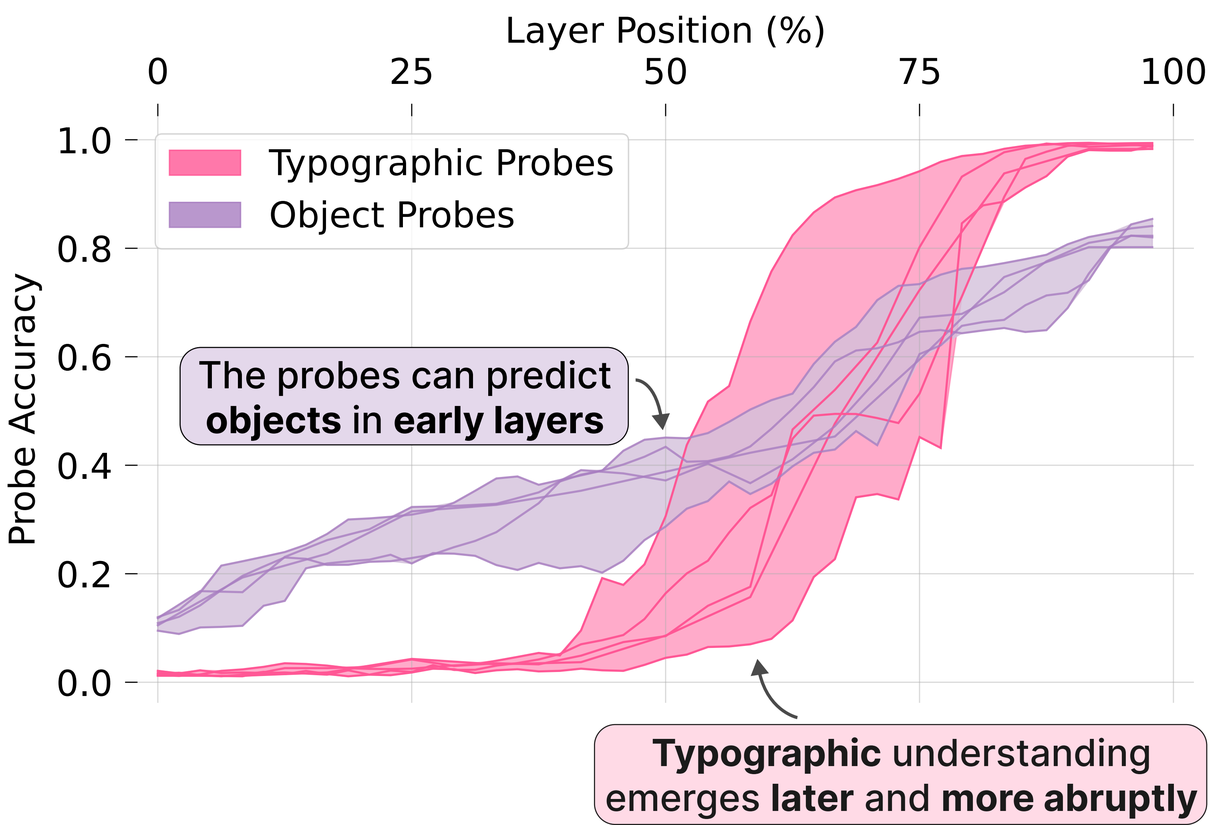
a) Imagenet100-Typo is used for contrastive linear probes

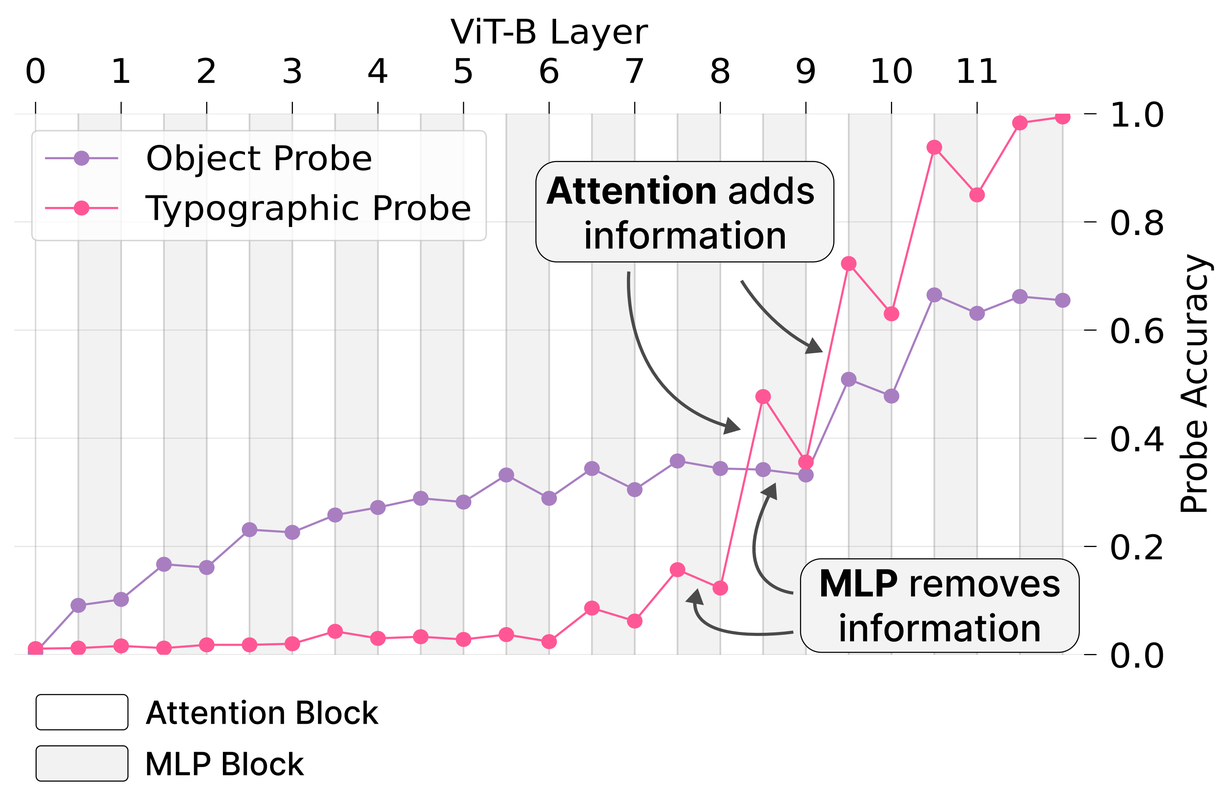


b) Probe performances show: typographic understanding emerges abruptly in the second half of the models layers



c) In constrast: object probes develops continuously





d) Attention Layers add information to the CLS tokens, while MLPs remove information from it