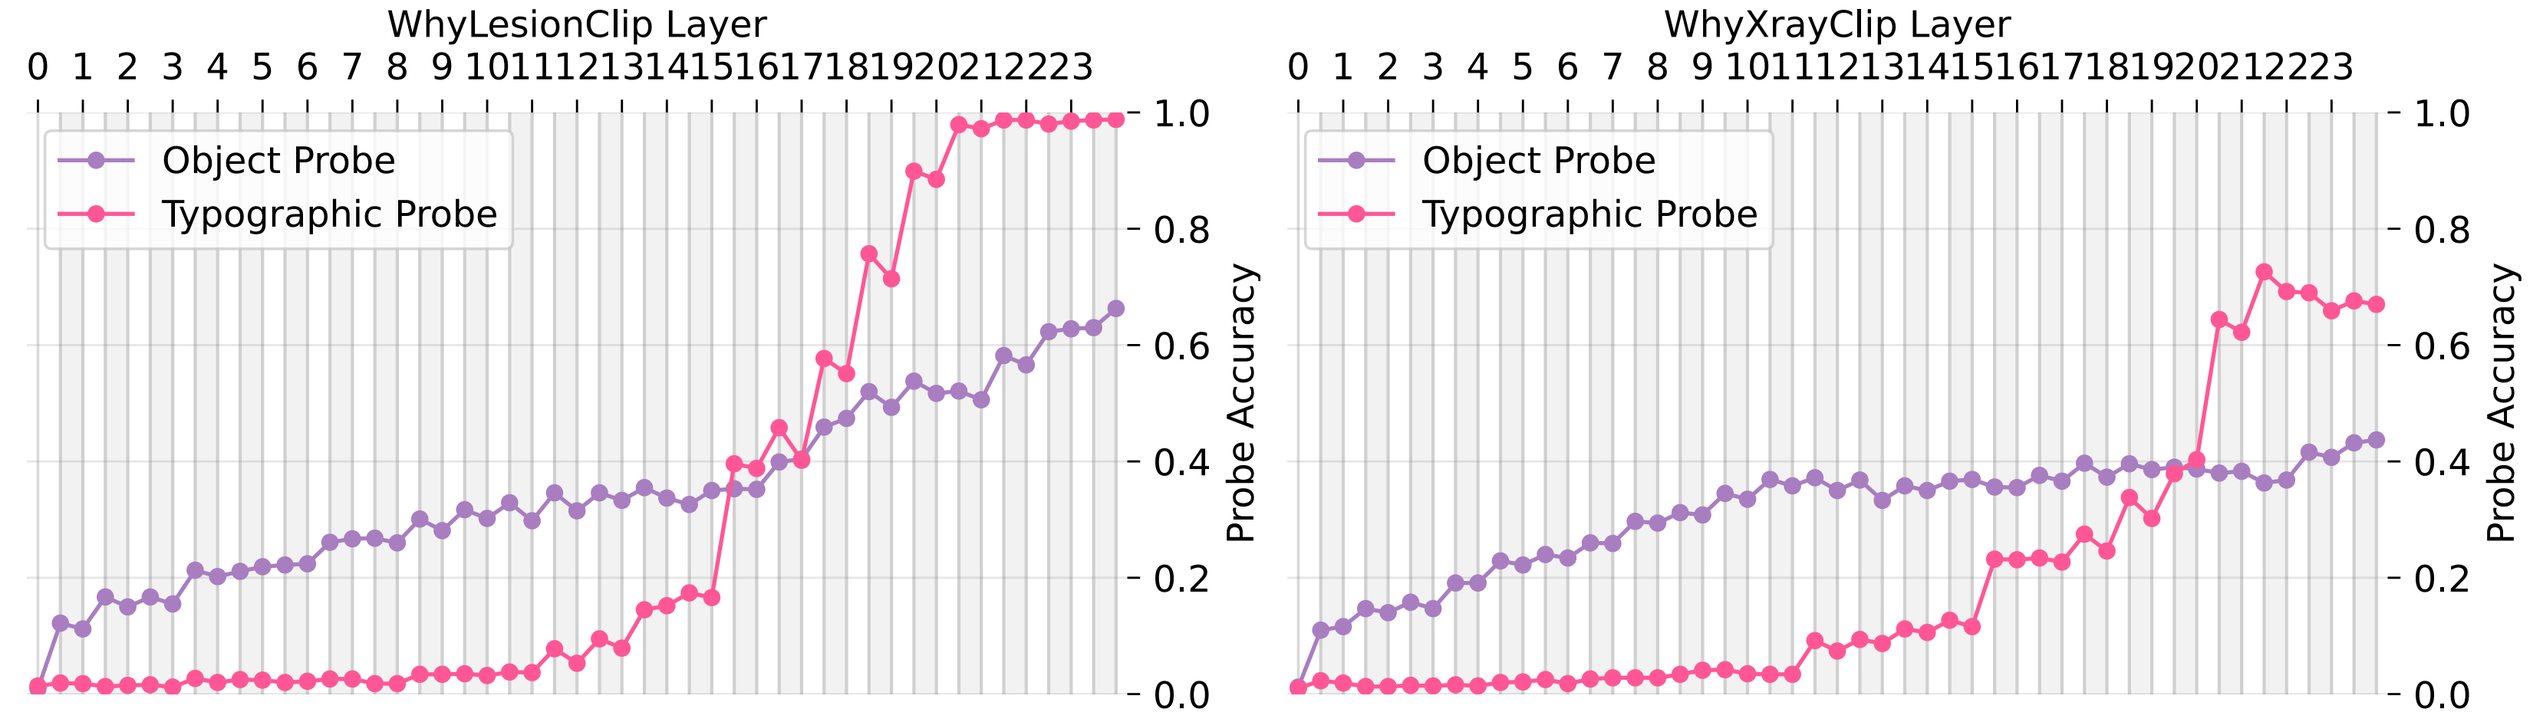
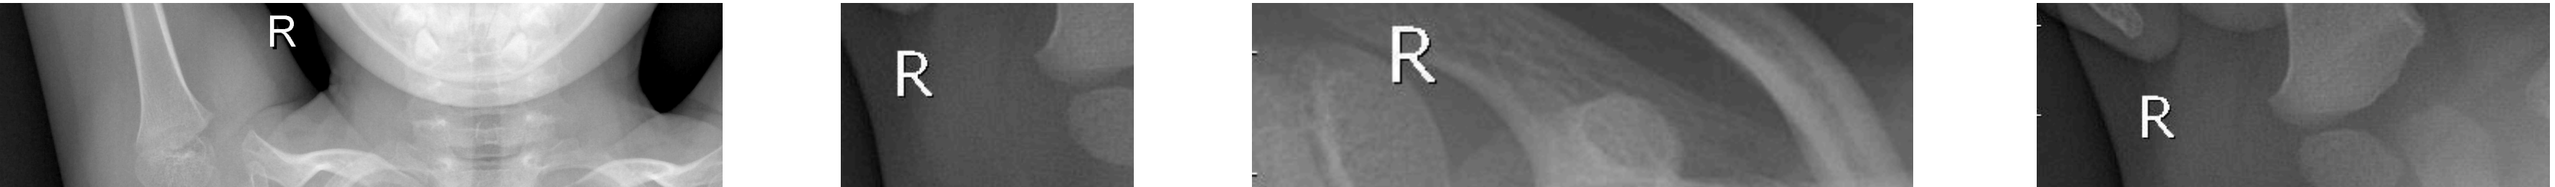
a) Typographic probes perform more strongly in the lesion model than in the xray model





b) Typographic artifacts in training data (e.g., R-markers) may explain robustness